

"Somewhere in Between" Tour – Tim Vantol

This October, Tim Vantol hits the road with his full band for the “Somewhere in Between” tour — a compelling run of shows that dives deep into the heart of life’s middle ground: between holding on and letting go, between where we’ve been and what’s still ahead.

Known for his anthemic songwriting and raw honesty, Vantol brings a live show that walks the line between explosive energy and stripped-back vulnerability.

Though a new album is on the horizon, this tour isn’t just about what’s next. It’s about where we are now — in the messy middle of life, where songs are still being written, hearts still healing, and stories still unfolding.

These aren’t just shows — they’re gatherings, where connection matters more than perfection.

This is where stories get told, songs get louder, and strangers turn into a crowd that sings along.

Join Tim Vantol and band this October.

Come find your place “Somewhere in between”.